

Enjoying Farm Life.
Higginville Advance:
Postmaster Sam J. Kleinschmidt this week moved to his farm, which adjoins the city on the southwest, and coincidentally received a large package of farm seed, principally a choice variety of pumpkin seed. The package was received through the mail, there being nothing to indicate who the thoughtful donor might be. Accompanying the seed was a Missouri corn-husk pipe and a liberal supply of "bills navy." Farmer Sam is now prepared to enjoy life in the rural style and says his friends are invited to come out, share his "bills navy," reap yarns and watch the pumpkins grow.

AN ALARMING SITUATION
Frequently results from neglect of clogged bowels and torpid liver, until constipation becomes chronic. This condition is unknown to those who use Dr. King's New Life Pills; the best and gentlest regulators of stomach and bowels. Guaranteed by Crenshaw & Young druggist. Price 25c. 6-2ml

Guas.
The Germans were the inventors of the first gun. About 1378, Schwartz, a German machinist, manufactured numerous crude guns which were brought into use by the Venetians in 1392.

It is a strange fact that cannon were made before small firearms. At Amberg there is still a piece of ordinance marked with the date 1303. Cannon were first used in war at the Battle of Crecy in 1346. It was not until 1544, however, that they were made in England.

THERE ARE FEW
people who know how to take care of themselves—the majority do not. The liver is a most important organ in the body. Herbine will keep it in condition. V. C. Simpkins, Alba, Texas, writes: "I have used Herbine for chills and fever and find it the best medicine I ever used. I would not be without it. It is as good for children as it is for grown people and I recommend it. It is fine for La Grippe." Sold by Crenshaw & Young. 6-2ml

AT OUTS WITH THE FAMILY
Farmer's Son Was to Marry Widow, His Daughter Was Suing Alleged Lover, and Wife Had Deserted.

Along about noon, as I was riding horseback along a South Dakota highway, I came upon a settler at his gate, says a writer in the Rochester Democrat and Chronicle, and after he had brought my horse a pail of water, he asked:

"Stranger, did you meet a strapping young man with a set jaw between here and Ellendale?"

"Yes, I believe I did," I replied.

"Well, that was my son Jim, going to town to marry a widder woman 12 years older than he is. Durn his hide, but he wouldn't listen to me. Did you also meet a gal about 20 years old between here and town?"

"Cross-eyed and her nose turned up?"

"Yep. That's my gal Sal, who's gone to town to sue a feller for breach-of-promise. Dog her cats, but nobody ever asked her to marry him or ever will."

"I also met a woman about 50 years old," I said.

"Red hair and freckled face?"

"Yes."

"That's my old woman. I told her this morning that if she didn't like my ways she could take the outside of the house, and, drat her antics, if she didn't walk off. I was going to ask you to stop to dinner, but as things are as they are—"

I assured him that I wasn't a bit hungry, and that his excuses were all right, and lent him a chew of tobacco and left him trying to whistle up N'oirits.

OLD EGYPTIAN UNIVERSITY
University of Cairo Hardly Conforms to Our Ideas of an Ideal Modern University.

The university of Cairo, Al Azhar, as it is called, has been for centuries one of the most famous in the world. It is, perhaps, the oldest of all universities, and possibly the outgrowth of the Serapeum, which was established at Alexandria by Ptolemy Soter 300 B. C. It is not what we would consider a university. At least it is not conducted upon the plan we are accustomed to.

There is no regular organization of the university. All a student has to do is to sign his name and address in a book at headquarters in the mosque of Al Azhar, select the professor whose instruction he desires, and learn what hours that particular professor lectures. Then he will go to the great building, covering several acres of ground. There are no chairs, no desks or rooms—only a roof supported by nearly 1,000 columns of granite and marble, surrounded by a vast paved courtyard.

His professor will be squatted on the floor at the base of a particular column, where he goes every day, and will be surrounded by his students, to whom he will talk in a familiar way for an hour or two every morning or every afternoon, as the case may be, with or without notes. The professor sometimes furnishes those who inquire a list of books pertaining to the subject under discussion, but that is not usual or important.

Nor does he ever keep a record of the number of pupils who attend his lectures. It is not necessary for him to do so. They pay him no fees; there are no examinations, no marks of merit or demerit, and the officials know only the student and the date of his coming. He stays as long as he pleases, and there is no record of his departure.

The professors expect no fixed pay. They have no salaries whatever, and students are not required to give them anything; but twice a week they receive a certain number of loaves of bread, which they can eat, sell or dispose of in any way they like, and that is their only regular compensation. This bread is purchased from a fund acquired by gifts. Professors who win friends for themselves and fame for the university are often recipients of large gifts. Some of them are very well off and can afford to teach for nothing.

The professors are not elected or chosen or appointed by any authority. Anybody can teach in the university, provided he does not make himself offensive to the other professors and can attract students.

GAME BETTER THAN POKER
When This Westerner Was in Hard Luck He Held Up Stages or Robbed a Bank.

"You are from the west, I take it?" said the lawyer as he dropped into a seat in the smoking car beside a man wearing a blue shirt and a big sombrero, relates the Baltimore American.

"Yes, sir; I am from Idaho," was the reply.

"Do they play much poker out there?"

"Well, not much."

"I thought poker was a western game?"

"I believe it is, sir."

"And in some parts of the west they play for very high stakes, don't they?"

"I have heard they did. I have heard so."

"But you must play now and then yourself?" persisted the lawyer.

"Well, once in awhile, but not for stakes. That is, I play a little penny-ante game."

"You are not in luck or lack the nerve, maybe?"

"O, it's not that, sir. I have a better thing than poker. When I want money I hold up the stage or a bank. There's more cash in it and no hard feelings, you know."

The Oleo Story Again.

"Waiter, is this oleomargarine or butter that you serve here?" asked the customer.

"Can't you tell?" asked the waiter.

"No."

"Then what is the difference?"

The Man Behind The Brush

knows the necessary ingredients of good paint. He knows that the life of a paint depends absolutely upon the thinner used.

The linseed oil is the mullage or gum-stick of paint. Mix the perfectly blended pigments of Hammer Condensed Paint with pure linseed oil and the result is a paint that sticks, which will neither blister nor peel and which has a lasting lustre and gloss.

A paint which is absolutely guaranteed to last five full years, or your money back.

This guarantee has back of it the Great Hammer Paint House of St. Louis, with a half million dollars in cash, and a reputation of a third of a century for "square dealing."

Besides getting the best paint on earth, you can save 25% on your next paint bill. Drop in some day and let us show you how.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION.

STATE OF MISSOURI.

County of Lafayette, ss.

In the Circuit Court of Lafayette County, Missouri, September Term, 1906, at Higginville.

Isolice M. Tackitt, Plaintiff, vs. Fred D. T. Ckitt, Defendant.

Now at this day come the plaintiff herein by her attorney, and files her petition and affidavit, alleging, among other things, that defendant Fred D. Tackitt is a non-resident of the State of Missouri.

Whereupon it is ordered by the Clerk of said Court in vacation as follows: To the said defendant, Fred D. Tackitt, you are hereby notified that the plaintiff has commenced a suit against you in this court, the subject and general nature of which is to obtain a decree of divorce from the bonds of matrimony contracted with you on the grounds that the defendant has offered such inducements to the plaintiff as to render her condition intolerable and fair to support and that unless the said defendant, Fred D. Tackitt, be and appear at this court at the next term thereof to be begun and holden at the court house, in the city of Higginville, in said county, on the 15th day of September next, and on or before that day answer or plead to the petition in said cause, the same will be taken as confessed and judgment will be rendered accordingly.

And it is further ordered that a copy hereof be published, according to law in the Lexington Intelligencer, a newspaper published in said Lafayette county, for four weeks successively, published at least once a week, the last insertion to be at least fifteen days before the first day of said next September Term, of this court.

Attest—

[SEAL] J. H. CAMPBELL, Circuit Clerk.

DELIGHTFUL SUMMER HAVENS

Along the Line of the Southern Railway

There are many beauty spots in the grand high-titude Western North Carolina country, and the SOUTHERN RAILWAY has issued a considerable amount of free literature describing the accommodations at Hot Springs, Hendersonville, Lake Toxaway, Saluda, Tate Springs, Flat Rock, Waynesville, Blowing Rock, Asheville, Brevard, Skland, Balsam, and a hundred or so other places where the days and nights are delightful beyond expression.

In addition to this "A Reminder" has been sent out to the public to the effect that in summer they should prepare for winter, having in mind that next season in Florida and Cuba will be more radiant than ever.

You might as well begin your plans now for next winter's sojourn in the Southern country. You will find all the comforts and pleasures there that you will anywhere else in Uncle Sam's domain.

Tickets with many stopover privileges will be on sale the next season as during the past season. For full information write
